THE JONES CAMPOUT

Everyone arrived Friday to a beautiful day. It was a casual evening with a lot of people gathering around the campfire, enjoying each others conversation and company.

Saturday started with a meeting on rules and regulations (HA!) for the car race to be held later Saturday night. At the meeting the cardboard boxes were passed out so everyone could build their cars.
As the day progressed, it started to rain and rain, and rain. During the day the kids went swimming, even in the rain. There was also the annual run to the candy store in town. The pot luck dinner and car race looked as though it might be a wash out, but to a successful wagonmaster, it was easy to obtain shelter for the pot luck, which was great as usual. When the rain finally stopped, it was time for the races. There were two divisions; youth and adult. The youngest age group from the youth division won the race. In the adult race, the Husband team won, in the annual husband/wife competition. Best car design was given to the car that looked like a Bull. Saturday night brought another great fire and conversation, with s'mores and hot dogs.

Sunday we awoke to a great pancake breakfast hosted by Paul & Diane Jones. The rest of the day was spent chatting as everyone packed up for their trip home.
