POLAR BEAR CAMPOUT

To start this story off I dragged my feet about going to this campout.... Camping in the winter was just not appealing to me so when I finally got to sending in our preregistration I sent the whole amount so it would force me to go. After the job of packing in boxes, packing the trailer and checking if we had heat, we were on the road. I kept saying, what are we doing? When we arrived it was dark and we didn't see where we were supposed to be. So we drove thru the whole campground ( which was beautiful ) and then we spotted the campers. We blocked our tires but didn't unhook. We went in the building and to my surprise there was a fire place and it was toasty warm. That night we enjoyed kielbasa and munchies, building a puzzle and stories from the past ( assume the position!!! ) Saturday morning we decided to go into town for breakfast. I think there were 22 of us that invaded Big Boy which had 1 waitress working. I was the lucky one for them to forget my meal. When we went back we were all busy making our toboggans. Then it was off to the hill for the race. I was the first one down, the second was Beth Pilette and third was Marci. Mike Heimstra brought his cardboard race car and put a bottom on it, but had to be pushed the rest of the way down. A few of them didn't even go down the hill. Several trips down the hill were enjoyed by everyone, whether they were riding the hill or just watching. One of us learned the hard way not to tip the nose forward. For supper we were served delicious chicken noodle soup, stew, grilled cheese sandwiches and desserts. Sunday morning was a wonderful pancake breakfast. Then slowly we packed up to go home. What a wonderful weekend, I'm so glad we went.

On Saturday we also had the Teen King ( Ray Thornton ) and family come spend the day with us.

Families attending were; Hartwig, Jones, McIntosh, Browns, Pilette, Valenti, Schaub, Riley and Heimstra. Guests were Steve W., Chris, Heather and Jamie.
